

Han Fook Kwang
Editor-at-large, The Straits Times

Mr Han Fook Kwang spent nine years in the Singapore Government Administrative Service (1979 to 1988) serving in the Ministry of Communications and the Ministry of Labour. He left the government service to join The Straits Times in 1989. He was Editor of the paper from 2002 to 2012, when he was appointed managing editor, and later editor-at-large.

Mr Han is a board member of Building and Construction Authority. He was founding chairman of The Straits Times School Pocket Money Fund, which provides financial assistance to needy students, from 2012 to October 2015.

He graduated from the University of Leeds in Mechanical Engineering in 1975 under a Colombo Plan scholarship. He also holds a Masters in Public Administration from Harvard University under a Singapore Government scholarship in 1983.

Mr Han was awarded the Public Service Medal (PBM) in August 2000 for his contributions as a Board member of the Land Transport Authority.

He is the co-author of several books on Singapore's founding prime minister - Lee Kuan Yew: The Man and His Ideas, Hard Truths To Keep Singapore Going, and One Man's View of the World.
